SYNOPSIS

Single mother Kaori lives with her daughter Futaba on the remote island of Hachijojima, known for its natural beauty. The once sweet Futaba is now a high school student in the middle of a rebellious phase, and barely acknowledges her mother. Kaori seeks revenge by creating intricate bento lunches that spell out remarks like; "Do your chores!", but eventually the boxed lunches become a means of communication between mother and daughter. Based on the real-life story of a Japanese blogger who reached number one in the Daily Overall Ranking in 2015 for her "harassment bento" blog.
